NEWS & EVENTS

Air Force uniform policy update

Air Force Chief of Staff Gen. Mark. Welsh approved several updates to Air Force Instruction 36-2903, Air Force Dress and Appearance. Some of the main changes are with regard to morale T-shirts/patches, earned Air Force and other services' badges, and the physical training uniform. For details, visit <http://www.af.mil/News/Article-Display/tabid/223/Article/473134/af-uniform-policy-update-welcome-back-morale-t-shirts-badges-and-limitless-athl.aspx>.

193rd Dining Out coming soon

The 193rd SOW is set to host a Dining Out April 5. The location is the Radisson Hotel at 1150 Camp Hill Bypass, Camp Hill, Pa.

Cocktails will begin at 6 p.m., with dinner at 7 p.m. Live music will be provided by the Air National Guard Band of the Northeast beginning at 9:15 p.m.

The keynote speaker for the event will be Lt. Gen. Bradley Heithold, Headquarters U.S. Special Operations Command vice commander.

For military, the attire is mess dress or semi-formal uniform; for civilians it's formal or semi-formal.

The cost per person is $25 for Airmen E-1 to E-4, $30 for Airmen E-5 to E-9 and retirees, and $35 for officers. Tickets are available through unit representatives.

Weapon systems officer opportunity

The 193rd Special Operations Squadron is accepting applications for traditional Guard weapon systems officers. A hiring board will be conducted over June UTA. Applications are due by close of business May 23. The 193rd SOS WSO section is seeking highly motivated individuals with strong technical backgrounds and degrees who desire and accept the challenges ahead of becoming an aviator.

Qualified individuals seeking this opportunity, should request application requirement information from Capt. Dave Teufel at David.Teufel@ang.af.mil, DSN 423.3115.

Four ways to make a difference now

Operation Homefront provides emergency financial and other assistance to the families of service members and wounded warriors.

A 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization, Operation Homefront was formed in February 2002 to support the families of deployed service members immediately following 9/11.

Operation Homefront is headquartered in San Antonio, Texas, but currently provides services to military families across the nation with 23 locations serving 43 states.

The Operation Homefront Pennsylvania/Delaware field office serves the needs of the 193rd SOW and other nearby military installations. The majority of clients are the lowest-paid service members, the E-1 through E-6 enlisted ranks.

There are many ways to get involved with Operation Homefront including:

Run with Team Operation Homefront

Team Operation Homefront runs in several races such as the Air Force and Marine Corps marathons. For more details, visit <http://www.teamoperationhomefront.net/>

Help a family keep a roof over their heads

Many military families are struggling to keep their homes and pay their bills. See the current needs of military families at <http://www.operationhomefront.net/need/list>.

Plan an event with Operation Homefront

Looking to organize something locally? Operation Homefront would love to work with you on one of their annual programs including The Star Spangled Baby Shower, Back to School Brigade and Veteran's Day 5K. Contact Pete Stinson at pete.stinson@operationhomefront.net for more information.

Calling all quilters

OHF wants to shower military moms with homemade blankets for their new arrivals and they need the help of quilters. Email pete.stinson@operationhomefront.net for details.

Military Child of the Year Award

In an effort to solicit more applications, the deadline has been extended through March to submit children for the 193rd SOW Military Child of the Year Award.

Award information can be found on the 193rd SOW home portal page under New Wing Instructions (193SOWI 36-2805), the wing bulletin board, and the Family Readiness Group folder.

Key points about this award:

It is not a scholarship, but rather a gift to honor children who have given of their time to a community project or charity.

Applicants will be judged on resiliency, leadership/accomplishments and extracurricular activities as well as on a 300-word (total) essay on "Air Force Core Values" and "pay it forward."

In the essay, applicants should write about how they are demonstrating Air Force Core Values and what are they doing to make a positive difference in the lives of others

The age range for eligible applicants is 8-18. There are two age categories: 8-12 and 13-18.

Two overall $300 winners (one from each age category) will be named each year.

In addition, two $100 winners from each air station (one in each category) will be named.

Winners will be announced at the 2014 193rd SOW Family Day event.

For more information and to submit documents, contact Tech. Sgt. Pamela Nee at pamela.nee@ang.af.mil.

Complete your CCAF on base

The 193rd SOW has teamed up with Harrisburg Area Community College to provide the five general education courses needed to fulfill the requirements necessary for a Community College of the Air Force degree.

HACC will be providing a speech class this summer on Thursday evenings from May 22 to Aug. 7 from 5-9 p.m.

Please stop by one of the information booths listed below for more information, or contact the Retention Office directly.

Middletown: March 15 in the lobby of Bldg. 81 from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Fort Indiantown Gap: March 16 in the Area 1 Dining Facility from 11 a.m. to noon; and in the Area 2 Dining Facility from noon to 1 p.m.

See the wing bulletin board for the flyer.

AF policy reminder about marijuana

In the wake of a number of states legalizing the use of marijuana, either for medical reasons or for recreational use, the Air Force Special Operations Command commander wants to remind all AFSOC military members that the use of marijuana is still illegal for Air Force members, regardless of location.

The knowing use of marijuana is prohibited by the Uniform Code of Military Justice and such drug use is incompatible with military service.

While some states have legalized the use of marijuana for medical and recreational purposes, Article 112a of the UCMJ makes it illegal for military members to use, possess or distribute marijuana or to introduce it onto a military installation.

The UCMJ applies to military members at all times, on or off duty, and anywhere inside or outside the United States.

Drug abuse can seriously damage your physical and mental health, jeopardize your safety and the safety of others, and adversely affect the success of the Air Force mission and national security.

Use, possession, distribution and introduction of marijuana can result in security clearance revocation; non-judicial punishment under Article 15, UCMJ; a less-than-honorable discharge from military service; and criminal prosecution, to include prison; and loss of rank and pay.

ANG recommended reading list

The Air National Guard History Program has compiled a short list of works for those interested in learning more about the National Guard.

This list is broken down into two categories. The first focuses on the history and activities of the Air National Guard from its beginnings through operations in Iraq and Afghanistan.

The second section contains works centered on the militia tradition that is strongly embedded in United States history.

To see the list, visit <http://www.ang.af.mil/shared/media/document/AFD-091019-073.pdf>.

Location designations change

The wing commander has changed the location designations for the 193rd SOW. Rather than referring to them as Air Stations 1, 2 and 3, they will be identified as Middletown, Fort Indiantown Gap and State College.

"Air Station what?
Where's that?"

Base ATM now available

There is now an ATM available (for cash withdrawals only) on base located in the break room of Building 75.
